Brooke's clients quickly feel at ease in the remodeling process. From the very first meeting, her extensive knowledge and experience demonstrate their project is in very capable hands. Leading with her heart and passion for design, she follows through with organization, communication and attention to the details.

Whether planning a new build or large remodel, people often feel overwhelmed. From Brooke's perspective, it doesn't have to be that way. She views every project as a team effort between herself and the client. Beyond designing a fabulous space, her role is to guide and coach them every step of the way.

Combining her design expertise with a little bit of fun helps break down barriers and allows her to really get to know her clients and their needs. "It's important to incorporate the human element into the experience. I make it a point to listen, understand and offer my best recommendations."
